

A genuine alternative..

Truckline is pleased to introduce another new product to its expanding RoadPro range. The RoadPro Air Control Valves are a high quality air brake alternative at extremely competitive prices.

Truckline's General Manager Peter Kaspar says the introduction of the RoadPro Air Control Valves is an important addition to the Truckline product line up as there is a need for a real option to the 'no-name' replacement valves on the market at the moment. Our valves are manufactured to ISO9002 quality control standards, and are subject to 100% end of line function and leakage testing.

"All shipments are batch tested upon receipt and each valve can be identified with a piece number and build date either on a tag attached to the valve, or painted onto the surface of the valve. This we believe will give our customers the peace of mind and an assurance that they are purchasing not only a quality product, but one that can be traced," Peter said.

The RoadPro range was launched by Truckline in 2005 and it has expanded to include, clutches, brake shoes, clutch brake, slack adjusters, brake chambers, Air Control Valves and the soon to be introduced brake and cam shaft bush kits.
